LAW WEEK AUGUST/ SEPTEMBER 2010

CALL FOR PAPERS: CONFERENCE ON LAW, GENDER AND SOCIAL TRANSFORMATION

The Law Week of the University of Limpopo, School of Law, has by now become a regular item on the annual agenda of lawyers in South Africa and Southern Africa. As in the past, the theme of the conference will be Law, Gender and Social Transformation.

The Law Week will be hosted at R40 Conference Hall, University of Limpopo Turfloop Campus from the 30th August to 3 September 2010.

The theme is inspired by the awareness that, given South Africa's historical background, gender considerations remain indispensable for justice in social transformation.

The Law Week will devote both morning and afternoon sessions to conference papers on the following sub-themes:

- Corporate governance
- Administrative justice
- Rural governance and development
- Access to information
- Customary law
- Labour broking
- Polygamous marriages
- Same sex marriages
- Law reform
- Transnational trade
- Indigenous knowledge systems

Lawyers and non-lawyers are cordially invited to submit papers for presentation at this conference focusing on the sub-theme of their choice.

Lawyers from across the terrain covered by modern day law will be attending the Law Week, including judges, politicians, legal advisors, corporation counsel, other practitioners, academics, magistrates, prosecutors, students, etc.

The topics and discussions will also be of immense value for participants from other disciplines, such as sociology, townplanning, economics, medicine, education.

Presenters are requested to provide an abstract of their presentations in 200-250 words on or before 31 May 2010 and the paper to be presented by 30th July 2010 to Mr. Themba Mathebula at thembam@ul.ac.za. Alternatively, abstracts can be sent by fax to (015) 268 2904.

Enquiries can be made to Themba Mathebula (015) 268 2915/2686/3201/2718
